

CITY WILDLY GREETS
ON HIS VICTORIOUS

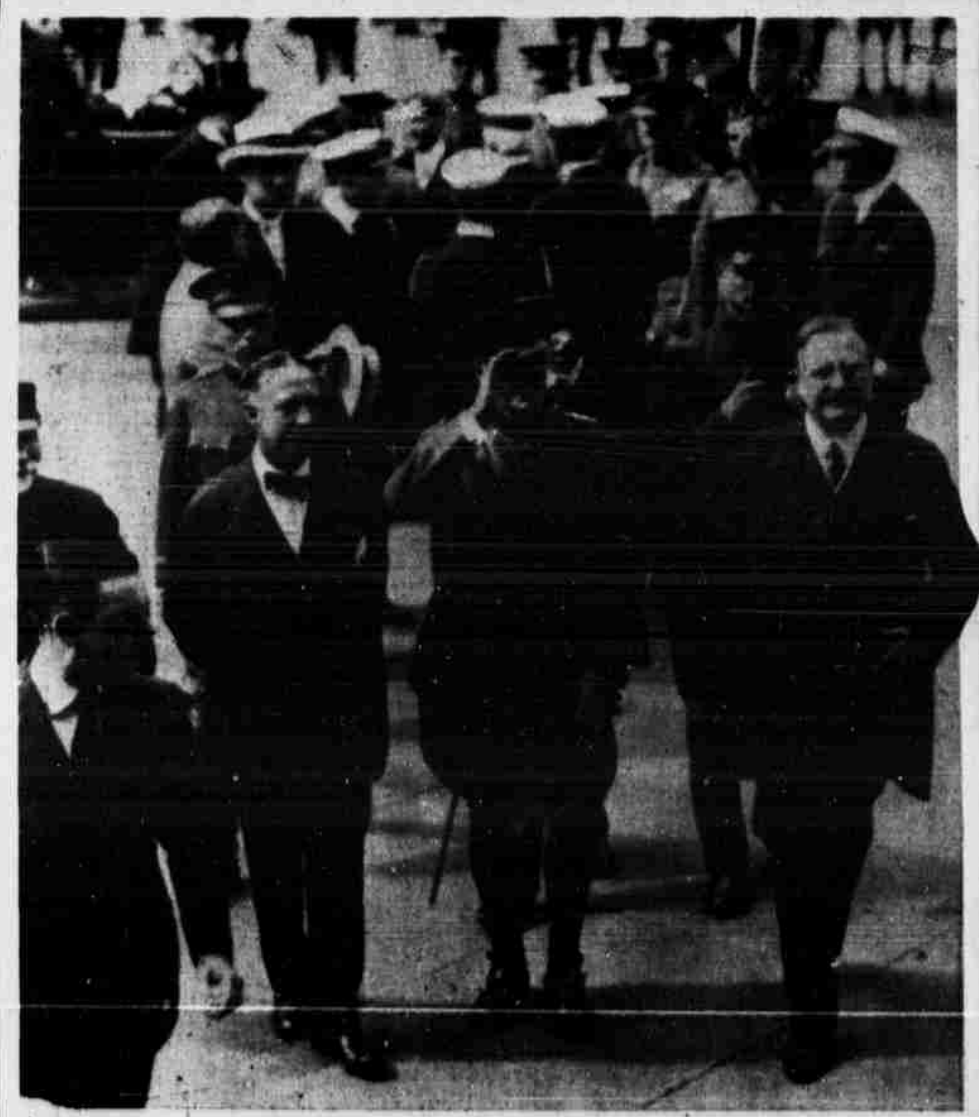

The General and the city's committee leaving Pier A at the Battery to enter automobiles for the trip to the City Hall ceremonies of welcome.

Photo by a SUN staff photographer.

The General and his staff aboard the Leviathan. Front row, left to right—Brig.-Gen. Davis, Adjutant-General; Brig.-Gen. O Connor, aide-de-camp to Gen. Pershing; Major-Gen. Summerall; Gen. John Joseph Pershing; Major-Gen. Brewster, Inspector General; Major-Gen. Hines; Brig.-Gen. Bethel. Back row, left to right—Lieut.-Col. Griscom; Col. de Chambrun, French officer on Gen. Pershing's staff; (third and fourth unidentified. Fifth—Col. J. G. Quakeneyer.

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Governor Smith (at left), the General and Mayor Hylan walking from the automobiles toward the City Hall steps. The General's standard bearer is right behind Mayor Hylan.

Copyright, International Film.

Standing by the Leviathan's bridge searchlight, General Pershing gave this hearty and spontaneous greeting to Miss Liberty down the bay.

Warren Pershing, only son, and the General's sister arriving at the City Hall for the ceremony of welcome.

Photo, Paul Thompson.

After the greetings in the city and his party for luncheon, the General and his party for luncheon mounted policemen and met the trip uptown.

The old police boat Patrol was the Mayor's Committee boat and is shown in the foreground. Of course, the central figure is the General.